

BOTH WORLDS – THE SYNOPSIS

Both Worlds is based on the true story of my parallel lives – my everyday life and my communication with the Spirit World - from pre-birth to sixteen years of age. It explains how I became the person I am today.

I believe it is a book that demonstrates the power and influence Spirit can have in all our lives. It describes how I grew and matured in Spirit alongside my earthly life as a neglected hungry child, rejected by a jealous and selfish mother.

Through my story I hope to pass on vital information to all those who feel the need to understand more about life, death and how the departed can continue to communicate with us.

The book will appeal to a wide range of readers, not just those who already believe in Spirit or the afterlife. I am confident the book will appeal to everyone whether agnostic, atheist or devoutly religious, they will find it an interesting, worthwhile, and possibly enlightening read.

Although my life on a council estate in the late fifties, early sixties, may not seem that unusual, I tell of the hunger and poverty I and my siblings encountered. My father was madly in love with my mother, but he was a compulsive gambler and she was a totally selfish woman. She appeared completely indifferent to me, except when she caught me talking to Spirit, and then she would ridicule me in front of anyone in the house. Unfortunately, in my early childhood I sometimes found it difficult to distinguish Spirit from living beings. Once I knew the difference, I was a lot more careful.

I believe that because of my ‘Gift’ for seeing, hearing, and communicating with Spirit my siblings and I were often targeted, as children, by negative Spirit. Lots of these encounters are included in the book, along with some premonitions, often extraordinarily accurate and frightening, that I have had. My elder sister ‘Eve’ (Barbara) who helped me write “Both Worlds” has had several psychic experiences herself and having shared my childhood can verify all that has happened.

Having said this, the book is not all about doom, gloom, and scary monsters; these are included to show how I grew to understand the Spirit world. Through vivid accounts of my own life I demonstrate how ones’ ‘Spirit Guides’ work to protect you in this world and beyond. It is about understanding the interconnectedness of both worlds and how hopeful, helpful, and often comforting that can be.

The book hints at how I become a full-time Medium in later life - I began doing sittings with remarkable accuracy at the age of twelve – 30p a go for friends’ mothers’!

It is not just a story of facing and overcoming adversity, but, I believe, much more than that. It is two stories about two lives, which are mine, running parallel in Both Worlds.

Having completed this first book ‘Both Worlds’ I am already working on the second book about my life from 16 to 37 years old (the first chapter is already written and I thought might be included at the end of ‘Both Worlds’?) I then intend to write a third from 37 years old to the present day, working as a successful international full-time medium.
